WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1819.

A committee of the Legislature of Virginia, to whom the subject had been referred, have made a lengthy report on the law relative to Duelling, which concludes with a recommendation to that body to pass a resolve declaring it to be unconstitutional.

New-York, Dec. 23.

AWFUL AND ALARMING OCCURRENCE.

On Tuesday afternoon, between 3 and 4 o'clock, James Stoughton, esq. son of the Spanish consul, was met in Broadway, near the corner of Courtland-street, by Mr. Robert M. Goodwin, of Baltimore, and, in a rencontre, (provoked by the latter) was stabbed through the heart with a sword cane, and expired in the course of eight or ten minutes. Mr. G. having given the fatal wound, embarked in the Attalanta and proceeded to Elizabethtown in New-Jersey, whither he was pursued by Mr. Warner, one of our police justices, and Mr. Raymond and Mr. Hayes, police officers, arrested and brought back to the city on the same night.

Immediately after the death of Mr. Stoughton, the coroner summoned a jury of 24 men, (a double pannel) who proceeded to the examination of the body, and of a number of persons who witnessed the unhappy event.—On opening the body it was discovered, that the sword had passed through the heart to the breast bone.

We have now before us a copy of all the testimony which came before the coroner's jury. As the prisoner is yet to be put upon trial for his life, it is deemed improper at the present moment to lay this testimony before the public. To satisfy the public mind, which is so deeply excited by the melancholy occurrence, it will, perhaps, be sufficient to remark, that the jury, after devoting fourteen hours to the examination of the case, and under a full view of the testimony, unanimously presented the prisoner as the murderer of the deceased.

Among the rumors set afloat on this occasion, it is not correct, that the deceased had any weapon in his hand. A small pistol, unloaded, was found in his pocket. The rumor, that the prisoner had recently challenged the deceased, and that the latter had declined the challenge, is correct.

The companies of the 9th regiment, doing duty with small arms, are directed to parade at the Arsenal this day at two o'clock, to attend the funeral of Major James Stoughton.

New York, Dec. 23.

Captain Cahoone, of the Revenue Cutter, who has been several days at the Hook, returned yesterday, having, by great exertions and fatigue, saved about eighty packages of the cargo of the ship America, wrecked four miles south of the light house.

The following persons who lost their lives, were taken up and buried at Sandy Hook, by captains Cahoone, Smith, and Dayton, on the 21st instant:—

Thomas Prior, Samuel Dobbin, William Jones, S. Slosson, second officer, a native of Connecticut, aged thirty-two years; James Waite and Peter Lewis, two colored men.

The bodies of Captain Vibberts and John Minugh, were sent to this city in the pilot boat Clinton, and interred by their friends.

Still missing—Wm. E. Field and E Garnagues, supercargoes, both of Philadelphia; George Hughes, of this city; John Helms, Martin and Peterson, foreigners, and West Newman, a colored boy, servant to the captain.

The first officer, Peyton R. Page, and the nine other survivors, came up yesterday in the Cutter.

New-Orleans. Nov. 24.

We yesterday mentioned the arrival here of four of the men who were concerned in the robbery of Mr. Lyon, of Attakapas, in Sept. last: their names are John Hale, Wm. Thompson, Henry Myre, alias Charles Lighthouth, and Charles Slater. These were all surrendered by John Lafitee, to capt. Madison of the U. S. schnr. Lynx, with the exception of Myer alias Lightouth, who was taken in the bay of Galveston, by the boats of the Lynx. As these men will be tried in this state, we deem it improper to say any thing in relation to their offence. But it may be interesting to the public, and a salutary warning to those deluded men who are disposed to engage in similar practices, to be made acquainted with the hardships and dangers endured by a gang of thieves after they had perpetrated their crime, and got fairly off with their plunder. It will prove to this description of persons, that, though they may fly for refuge to the most remote and secluded parts of the country; though they may seek shelter among the savages on the banks of the Sabine, or the banditti of Galveston, the hand of justice is sure to strike them at last.

It appears that while they were encamped on the banks of the Sabine, they were attacked by a party of riflemen who had pursued them from the vicinity of the plantation which had been the theatre of their depredations and who made prisoners of part of them and retook all their plunder. The remainder of them determined to make their way to Galveston. But, a few days after they set out, being closely pursued by a boat, which proved to be one belonging to the Lynx, then betook themselves to the prairie, and two days after they lost one of their number, John Brown, who fell down and died through fatigue and hunger. On the fifth day three more, namely, Lightner, Kelly and Slirth, left them to go to an Indian village on the Sabine, and have not since been heard of. On the 7th day in swimming over a creek, lost all their arms and ammunition; & on the eighth day were compelled to kill Course, an Italian, and subsist on his body. On the twelvth day they arrived opposite Galveston. In crossing the bay, they were pursued by a boat belonging to the Lynx, and one of them (Myer) was taken. The rest, on their arrival at Galveston, were apprehended by John Lafitte, the soidisant governor, who ordered them to be tried by a court and jury, by whom they were sentenced to death, and their leader, George Brown, was actually executed. Lafittee was induced to pardon the rest, as he observes, by the intreaties of the inhabitants of the country.

Nov. 27.—By a letter from the Sabine, we learn that on the 31st ult. col. Perros, commandant of San Antonio, with 300 Spaniards, appeared on the bank of that river, and that capt. Beard with a detachment of American troops, was preparing to dispute his passage into the territory of the U. States, when the Spanish officer sent in a flag of truce, with assurances of his friendly views, and deprecating all ideas of open hostilities. The Spaniards had previously captured all the Americans whom they fell in with, not only the soldiers of general Long, and the Camanche traders, but those who had peaceably settled in Texas, as cultivators of the soil. By the return of the flag, capt. Beard transmitted a letter, demanding from the Spanish commander, the release of all his American prisoners, except such as had violated the laws of nations. This demand was immediately complied with, and permission was given to the Americans to secure their property. An American officer was despatched to see the arrangement completed. It is understood that this party of Long's men, and those who had been engaged in unlawful trade, will return to the Trinity, where they have 1000 men, intending to act against the Camanche Indians.

Extract of a letter to the editors of the American Centinel, dated Harrisburg, Dec. 23.

"A proposition was offered in the House of Representatives, on the 21st inst. by Mr. Wilkins, to tax the dividends of the Bank of the United States, and for the purpose of executing the same without being drawn into collision with the United States officers. Mr. W. proposes to refuse the Bank the opportunity of suing and being sued, in the state courts. That part of his resolution, embracing the latter idea, was withdrawn before the adoption of his resolution by the house. It then remained a naked resolution to inquire into the expediency of laying a tax on the dividends of the bank, avowedly understood as not embracing the idea of legality or constitutionality, leaving this latter point to be hereafter decided by the house. On this ground the vote was taken, and the resolution very unanimously adopted; but this vote was no indication of the opinion of the house upon the main question, when all its circumstances are involved.

"It is hardly to be expected that a house of representatives of so much intelligence will involve the state in another wind mill war with the United States; there is too much respect for the constitution, too much attachment to our rising republic, to foment discord and division between the body and the members, for Pennsylvania, especially after the experience she has had, to put herself in array against the United States."

Boston, Dec. 23.

By the brig Hope, from Calcutta, papers of that city to July 31, have been received at Merchants' Hall, and by Mr. Topliff.—They contain very little news.

The Dutch took possession of Padang, May 23, and double duties were immediately imposed on all exports and imports.

The commencement of the rains in the upper provinces of India had been accompanied by storms of more than usual violence, and severe tempests had been frequent in all that quarter of the globe.

It is stated, under date of Penang, June twelfth, that a Dutch pirate, named Thunderwold, has made his appearance in the Eastern seas. He was formerly a resident at one of the ports of Java. Having had his property confiscated for some offence against the Dutch goverament, he has fitted out two brigs, one of them mounting twenty-two guns, and is committing great depredations. It is stated that he has much annoyed the Dutch trade, and attacked and sunk two Dutch cruisers. He was last reported to be cruising about the straits of Sincapore. He had not molested vessels under British colors. A Dutch ship of the line and a frigate were gone in quest of him.

Calcutta, July 17.

The Bombay papers contain an account of the celebration of a marriage ceremony, which took place at Indore on the 3d May, between his highness Mulha Row Halkar and Chandler Bye, on which occasion the resident sir John Malcolm, accompanied by a number of officers were present. The accounts state that "the bride being of Rajput extraction, and of a higher cast than the bridegroom, a peculiar ceremony was in consequence observed. In Hindoo marriages, it is the custom for the bridegroom to stand on one side of a suspended cloth, the bride being on the other side; upon the Brahmin's clapping his hands the cloth is dropped and the bride, advancing to her husband, throws a garland over his neck, they are then constituted man and wife. But on this occasion a sword was substituted in the place of the Maharajah, and the bride was formally carried to the sword. The signification of this strange ceremony is said to be, that the sword of state prevails over the consideration of caste.

After the Maharajah had returned to the assembly, his young bride was brought in veiled, in her bridal attire, and seated by his side. She was between nine and ten years of age, and very good looking and fair, of which she allowed the assembly to judge by uncovering her face without any affectation of reserve.

Dubois, the most accurate observer of the Hindo manners and customs, differs, in one point, in his description of the ceremonies used upon such occasions, from the above account. He states that, after dropping the cloth, it is the bridegroom who advances to the bride and throws the Tably over her neck, which constitutes them man and wife.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

By the Gen. Pike, Creddiford, at Holmes's Hole, from Falmouth, we have received London papers to Nov. 5, six days later than our previous accounts. The following extracts contain all the articles of interest in them:

A meeting of the radicals was held in Finsbury market place, London, on the 1st, at the breaking up of which many of the principal speakers were pelted with mud.

Accounts from Leeds states, that a large number of pikes of a most deadly construction had been manufactured and distributed in the manufacturing districts. Six pieces of artillery and a proportionate number of men and four companies of infantry were expected there.

Numerous meetings had been notified in different parts of the kingdom, as well with a view to reform, as to give effectual aid to the civil power, in case of a disturbance of the peace.

London, Nov. 5.

Those who pretend to be well informed, assert that something like the Irish system will be proposed, on the meeting of parliament, respecting the disturbed districts; that is, summary powers to be confided to the lords lieutenants, on the declaration of the magistrates respecting the state of the counties respectively, to place them under martial law.

The young prince Hohenzollern, while lately fencing, was seized with a fit of apoplexy, of which he expired in a few minutes afterwards.

"The accounts from New-York state that the fever was raging there with such violence that it had caused nearly one half of the inhabitants to quit the city, and produced an entire suspension of business."

The collector at Liverpool gave orders, Nov. 2, that all vessels from the U. States should be placed under quarantine.

The plague had broken out at Mogadore 28th Sept. There were, however only 3 or 4 deaths per day, and principally confined to the Moors.

At Cadiz on the 8th Nov. there were 101 deaths, 10,913 sick; on the 9th, 90 deaths, 10,294 sick; 10th, 99 deaths; 11th, 105 deaths, 19,037 sick. At Port St. Mary's and San Fernando, the fever continued to rage.

The piratical brig William, capt. Christopher Delane has been taken by his majesty's ship Spey, and carried into Malta—the master and all the crew in irons except the steward, who escaped. It is said she had plundered an American and Portuguese vessel, and that a quantity of doubloons were found on board of her. They were to be tried for piracy on the 26th Nov.

The queen of Spain was to make her solemn entry into Madrid on the 20th Oct.

Sir Thomas Hardy's squadron (the Vengeur, Superb, 74, and Hyperion 36) was at Madeira, Sept 19.—A letter from an officer says "we proceed to Rio Janeiro immediately with the ambassador, Mr. Thornton; but we do not know our further destination, nor the object of our going out—we are prepared with every thing necessary for war, and to get the ship in the highest fighting condition, we have plenty of exercise at the guns every day."

New-Orlerns, Nov. 17.

We have learned with the greatest satisfaction that the pirate VINCENT GAMBI, of awful memory, so celebrated in the annals of murder, pillage, and all other crimes which dissolute mankind, has arrived to the end of his horrid career, not through the gallows the last asylum of men like him, and which he had so richly deserved by his crimes, but by the very hands of his associates, by the very bloody axe which he so often used in murdering the victims of his cupidity and wickedness.

The person from whom we learn that excellent news, had it from good authority, and although he had not an opportunity of knowing all the particulars, he told us we might publish it as certain. The fact is that the villain whose name this day polutes our paper, does no longer exist. He used to lead his infamous companions with so much rigor and severity, that being tired of his way, and availing themselves of an opportunity when they found their worthy chief asleep on a sum of $10 or $12,000 which he had robbed but a short time before, they cut his head off with an axe.

We shall endeavor to obtain further information about that happy event, and we shall publish it, well convinced as we are, that the death of so daring a villain cannot fail to interest society at large, and especially the inhabitants of the state of Louisiana, who shudder at the crimes of the pirates of whom he was one of the most distinguished leaders. In the mean time we wish with all our heart that those monsters may either kill each other, or fall under the sword of justice!

November 22.

John Desfarges, the chief of the eighteen men arrested by capt. Loomis, on a charge of piracy, was tried on Friday last, before the United States District Court, sitting in this city. Mr. J. R. Grymes, his council made a long speech, cited a number of authorities, and took the greatest pains to save his client, but the testimony was so strong, that the jury after a few minutes retirement returned with a verdict of Guilty: the trial of the seventeen others will take place to-day. Mr. Grymes is also charged with their defence, assisted by Mr. Livermore, appointed by the court to that effort.

St. Georges, (Bermuda) Dec. 1.

Capt. Dill, of the brig Humming-Bird, from Trinidad, spoke on Friday the 26th ult. about 90 miles to the westward, a brig from New London, with cattle, consigned to Mr. Durnford, St. George's.

The brig Harriet, Beeman, arrived at Kingston Oct. 19, from Bermuda, was boarded on the 14th, off Cape Maize, (the extreme east point of Cuba) by a small schooner, having 14 or 15 men and small arms. She overhauled the Harriet strictly, and permitted her to proceed; the crew appeared to be natives of Cuba, with the exception of one Frenchman and a German, although they all spoke French. An American built sloop was in company, said to be her prize; she had lumber on deck, and the capt. of the Harriet was of opinion that she was laying to for boats from the shore to discharge her cargo, having been seen the greater part of the day standing off and on.

The schr. Pegasus, Summers, master, belonging to Philadelphia, anchored in Anattobay, Jam. on the 20th Oct. short of water and ballast.—Capt. Summers stated, that the Pegasus was from Philadelphia bound to Trinidad de Cuba; when off the harbor of Mancinello, he was taken by the Venezuelian cruizer Libertador, capt. Chitty, and that his cargo, consisting of flour, soap, lard, butter, herrings and gin, was taken out by capt. Chitty, and put on board the Libertador, a Patriot felucca, and an English hermaphrodite brig, under the plea that it was Spanish property, and that capt. Chitty paid him 800 dollars for freight, and gave him a certificate to that effect.

The American schr. Resolution, of New York from St. Jago de Cuba, bound to Monte Christo, out 27 days, from contrary winds, calms, and being out of water and provisions, put into Port-Royal, Jam. on the 28th October, in distress.

A Spanish sloop, on her passage from Turks Islands to Porto Plata, about the middle of Oct. passed an American brig, with flour, bound to leeward for a market, with the loss of her topmasts, and in great distress. Several vessels, expected at Porto Plata, from the U. S. were supposed to have foundered, in consequence of the severity of the weather, and their being so long out.

From the Connecticut Mirror, Dec. 20.

WASHINGTON.

Every thing which relates to the life and actions of this great and good man, cannot fail to interest every reader whose bosom is warmed by American feelings. Of all men, the name of Washington must be the most dear to American hearts; and as the years roll away, instead of being lost in distance, the more brilliant do his virtues appear, and the more strongly convinced are we of the true greatness of his character.

"There is a mournful pleasure, (says the eloquent Dr. Collyer) in recalling the actions, and reviewing the feelings of those who are gone before. Time has effected changes by his slow devastations, which speak to the heart; and we cannot hear the voice of years departed, without feeling our attention arrested, and amid the suspension of our employments, giving reverence to the testimony of those, whose wisdom, snatched from that all-destroying hand remains upon record for our instruction."

The following interesting anecdote of the father of our Republic, we find in Bisset's continuation of Hume; and we do not recollect to have met with it in any other place. It illustrates in a most forcible manner the over-ruling hand of Providence, in directing the operations of a man's mind, in moments when he is last of all aware of it. This curious incident, from which it appears that the life of our hero was in imminent danger, took place during some skirmishing a day or two previous to the battle of Brandywine, and is detailed in a letter from Maj. Furguson, who commanded a rifle corps, in advance of the Hessians, under Gen. Knyphansen, to his friend in England. The letter in question gives the following account. "We had not lain long, when a rebel officer remarkable by a Hussar dress, passed towards our army, within a hundred yards of my right flank, not perceiving us. He was followed by another dressed in a dark green and blue, mounted on a bay horse, with a remarkable large high cocked hat. I ordered three good shots to steal near to them and fire at them; but the idea disgusted me; I recalled the order. The hussar in returning made a circuit, but the other passed within a hundred yards of us; upon which I advanced from the wood towards him. Upon my calling, he stopped; but after looking at me, proceeded. I again drew his attention, and made signs to him to stop, levelling my piece at him; but he slowly cantered his way. As I was within that distance at which, in the quickest firing, I could have lodged half a dozen balls in or about him before he was out of my reach, I had only to determine; but it was not pleasant to fire at the back of an unoffending individual, who was acquitting himself very coolly of his duty, so I let him alone. The day after, I had been telling this story to some wounded officers who lay in the same room with me, when one of our surgeons who had been dressing the wounded rebel officers, came in and told us, that they had been informing him, that General Washington was all the morning with the light troops, and only attended by a French officer in a hussar dress, he himself dressed and mounted in every point as above described. I am not sorry that I did not know at the time who it was."

French funds, Nov. 29.—5 pr cts 68*f* 40c; bank stock 1463f.

The British parliament was opened on the 23d of Nov.

The prince regent in his speech refers to the late disturbances in that country, and regrets the necessity of having been compelled to augment the military establishment, and consequently the expences of the nation.—[Extracts from the speech will be given in our next.]

The London Courier of Dec. 3, states that the debates in both houses of parliament the preceding night were very important. The bills for the seizure of arms, and the prevention and punishment of drilling and training were read a second time without a division in the house of lords. Lord Sidmouth stated that the training had materially increased and extended, and that arms to a considerable amount had recently been procured. The seditious meetings' bill was read a second time in the commons, and the majority in its favor was 223.

Two men, by the names of Walker and Knight, had been arrested at Manchester on a charge of high treason.

A proclamation had been issued, declaring the county of Roscommon, in Ireland, in a state of disturbance.

Sir Francis Burdett, has received notice that an information has been filed against him for his letter to the electors of Westminster.

Cobbet has arrived in England from New-York. There had been a large meeting of the people which Cobbet addressed at considerable length, on the subject of Reform, Mr. Paine's remains, &c. A public dinner was given to him in the evening at the Castle Inn, at which the beverage consisted of pure water.

There has been a change in the French ministry. M. M. Desolles, Gouvion St. Cyr, and Baron Louis, are removed. The old friends of Bonaparte, says the London Globe, lately the influential part of the Cabinet, have thus sunk beneath the royalists.

It was reported at Madrid on the 1st Nov. that a treaty had been concluded between Spain and England, by which England pledges the protection of her flag to cause the rights of Spain to be respected by the U. S. Its authenticity was doubted in London.

Twenty warrant officers were ordered to the Lakes in Canada.

The Grand Duke of Woimar has introduced the censorship of the press into his dominions.

The locks and bayonets of the Kent militia had been ordered to be removed for safety to Dover Castle.

The bands of robbers in Estremadura are totally destroyed or dispersed. Melcheir has escaped and is said to have fled to Portugal, disguised as a monk. Profound tranquility prevails throughout the whole north of Spain.

Robbery.

ON Christmas Eve, about 7 o'clock, was stolen out of my shop, a new drab Surtout Coat, silk facings and velvet collar, with 4 capes, rounded in front, and fastened on to the collar with tape and hooks and eyes in front, so as to be taken off at pleasure—this coat would fit a person about 5 feet 6 inches in height.

Also, at the same time was taken a snuff colored surtout coat, with a velvet cape, silk lining, and Leopold star twist buttons.

A reward of twenty dollars will be given on conviction of the offenders, and all reasonable expences paid on detection.

Extracts from a Law

Of the Corporation to provide for the speedy extinguishment of Fire, &c.

Sec 1. That every proprietor of any dwelling house, or store house within the limits of the corporation, shall, at his or her own expence, provide as many fire buckets, made of good and suitable leather, and containing at least two and a half gallons, as shall be equal in number to the stories in such house. Provided, That no proprietor shall, in any case be compelled to provide more than three buckets for one house. Every proprietor who shall neglect to procure the proper number of buckets in the manner herein directed, shall forfeit and pay one dollar per month for each bucket he shall so neglect to procure. The proprietors of all dwelling houses and store houses which shall hereafter be erected within the corporation, shall furnish the same with buckets in the manner before prescribed, within two months after such houses shall be occupied; or failing to do so, shall be subject to the penalties before mentioned.

2. Where the proprietor of any dwelling house or store house residing out of the limits of the corporation, shall neglect to comply with the requisitions of this act, the occupier of such house shall within two months after coming to the possession thereof, procure the necessary buckets; and failing to provide the same, shall be subject to the like penalties as are in such case imposed on the proprietor.

5. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of police, once in six months at least, to visit the houses within the limits of the corporation to examine and take an account of the buckets belonging to such houses, and to report to the mayor the names of all persons who shall neglect to provide and keep the same, according to the requisitions of this act.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on Thursday, the 11th inst. a negro man, named DICK, who sometimes calls himself Dick Douglas. He is a small man about 5 feet 6 inches high, and is not a very black man. I purchased him from the estate of Edgar McCarty, esq. Cedar Grove, Fairfax county, Va. and it is likely that he may be lurking about that neighborhood or Colchester, as he has a wife at capt. Berry's of the latter place; or he may have gone to Loudoun county, as he has lived there in the neighborhood of Wm. McCarty and John McCarty, near Leesburg. He had on and took with him an old grey cloth coat and a brown do pantaloons of drab colored domestic cloth. He is much addicted to liquor, and is a coarse shoemaker. I will give 20 dollars if taken in the district of Columbia. Thirty dollars if taken in Fairfax county, and the above reward if apprehended in any other place, and secured so that I get him again; and reasonable charges if brought home. WM. B. STUART.

about 22 years of age, his fore teeth wide apart, and cannot speak very quick—had on Virginia cloth clothes and carried off a shaggy great coat, he has a father named Peter Hall, who lives with the widow Morgan, at Oak Hill, Fauquier Co. and his grandfather, old Frederick Hall, is supposed to be living at Mr. Terrett's near Alexandria, and it is likely he may be lurking about there.—I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home. 100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living near Aldie, Loudoun county, Virginia, on the night of the 11th inst. a negro man, who calls his name NED BIAYS. He is a shrewd, intelligent negro, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high; 30 years of age, well made, active and polite Had on when he went away, a sky colored coat, and corded pantaloons. His right eye sore, apparently occasioned by a blow, the blood having settled around it. His ears have been pierced, and had green silk in them when he went away. It is expected he is now lurking about Fairfax court-house and Aldie. The above Ned Biays ran away on the night of the 25th of last Aug and was caught on the 11th inst. on the night of which he effected his elopement by drawing the staple to which he was fastened by the handle of a pan, while there was no person in the kitchen but himself. He was caught on the 11th inst. a few miles below Aldie, but I think it improbable that he has gone near the same place again. I will give 100 dollars if he is taken out of the county, and fifty if taken in the county, and secured so that I get him again, and all reasonable charges if brought home. GEO. GULICK.

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmouth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va. should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

There is attached to this property, a good carriage-house, together with an excellent stable, which will always be supplied with the best of hay and oats, and attended by a good ostler. RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

TO PRINTERS.

ADAM RAMAGE

RESPECTFULLY informs the trade, that he continues to manufacture the

Screw and Ruthven

PRINTING PRESSES.

The former, in its present improved state, with iron beds, &c. he has obtained a patent for. The estimation in which this press is held, is perhaps best shewn by the demand for it—nearly 600 being in use of his make; and every exertion shall still be made to render it as complete as possible.

☞ All other articles in his line, as usual.

THE RUTHVEN PRESS.

This PRESS has been adopted, from possessing advantages over all the Iron and one pull Presses that are known to be in use in America or Europe, in some particulars; that is to say, its construction combining immense power in a compact form, (given by levers) to durability and lightness. It is particularly adapted for being moved and comprised in a space of small comparative bulk. The manner of giving the impression is entirely original, and different from other presses, calculated to save the type. The form is uniformly stationary, and the platten passes over by means of rollers, and a channel or tail ways, until brought parallel with the form, it rests, and the impression is given with ease, and in an instant, by turning the rounce or handle with the left hand, exactly corresponding with the running in of the carriage and form of the old press. The two surfaces being of iron, and true to the greatest perfection, bad work cannot be done on them, when the press is once adjusted, the pull regulated, and the beating attended to. The smallest cards may be printed on them without bearers or mackling—they may also be used, when the form is off, for taking copies from manuscripts, seals, coins, &c.—They require no levelling or fixing, and the Press, of a large royal size, occupies only a space of forty inches square.

Each Press will be accompanied with a copper plate engraving, and printed directions.

He will only add, that it is his determination to make them as complete and cheap as possible, and is now selling them as low as they are sold in Great Britain, with some improvements, and at least not inferior in workmanship.

This press is in general use in Europe, and has the recommendations of Printers of the highest standing in their favor

The opinions of some of those who have used them here, is respectfully submitted.

ADAM RAMAGE.

Philadelphia, Nov. 24, 1818.

Mr. A. Ramage:

Dear Sir—I consider the Ruthven Press as a very valuable improvement; and think the trade generally, are under great obligations to you for your zeal and perseverance, in naturalizing so useful an invention.

The Press combines a vast accession of power, with a considerable dimunition of labor to the workmen; and so far as relates to the one you manufactured for me, I can safely say, that it is impossible for any press to produce a more equable impression. The platten and bed for the form being both of cast iron, I fully expect that this most essential quality will be permanent.

With hearty wishes for that success to your manufactory, which it so well deserves, I am sir, your obedient servant,

THOS. H. PALMER.

Philadelphia, Nov. 24, 1818.

We, the subscribers, having had the Ruthven Press in operation for some time past, are of opinion, that it is equal in every respect to any Press now in use. Its peculiar merits consist, in the form remaining stationary—the mode of giving the impression, and the ease and facility with which the necessary power is applied by the workmen. We hesitate not to declare our entire satisfaction with the press, and that we look upon the preference given it, by the different workmen engaged, as conclusive testimony in its favor. (Signed) WILLIAM BROWN.

Mr. Ramage.

Philadelphia. Nov. 25. 1818.

Sir—Solicitous as we feel for the encouragement of American genius, we cannot withhold the praise due a foreign invention of manifest advantage. The Ruthven Press, upon which we are desired to give an opinion, we consider the most complete machine for printing, we have ever examined. For ease in working, we have never seen its equal. From its peculiar instruction, ingenius as it is novel, we conceive it to be admirably calculated for the performance of good printing. With regard to its celerity, our short acquaintance with the machine will not permit us to speak positively; but we believe it will not be found inferior to any on the continent.

New-York, July 8. 1819.

Dear Sir—I have for some time past been threatening to write to you, to let you know how well I am pleased with the Ruthven Press, improved and made by you; but a variety of circumstances have prevented it. I have had it in constant operation three months: during which time nearly all the printers of this city, and a number of our most ingenious mechanics, have called to examine it. They have pronounced it as complete in every respect, as any machinery they have ever seen.

The following is the idea I have of it.

No Printing Press has ever been constructed, on which more or better work can be done in a given time.

The exertion of working it is no more than healthy exercise for a boy of 15 years of age. (I have a boy of that age to work on mine.)

It is well made, the different parts admirably proportioned, and not more liable than other presses to get out of repair.

I am, your's respectfully,

D. FANSHAW.

Mr. A. Ramage.

New-York, April 25, 1818.

Sir—The Ruthven Press arrived safe, and is in successful operation. Many of our Printers have been looking at, and all express their unqualified approbation of it.

Your Press is better made than one we have from Ruthven's manufactory. It is, in fact, an excellent machine, as powerful as the Columbian, and to be preferred for its lightness and simplicity.

BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exertion of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontispiece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery

☞ Subscriptions received at this office.
